2. [REDACTED] and I met with Colonel Edwards and Mr. [REDACTED] to talk about their manpower requirements and we accepted their approach which provides for a 1% reduction in Fiscal Year 1959 and a 2% reduction in Fiscal Year 1960. There should be further reductions when we move to the new building. However, Mr. Bissell has just levied a brand new requirement on the Office of Security which would require us to open immediately an office [REDACTED] requiring five people, possibly to be expanded to ten people at a later date.

3. With [REDACTED] I also reviewed the manpower situation in the Office of Logistics. They have a real problem and in everyone of their components the workload seems to be increasing. However, I believe that there are further reductions to be made in the Supply Division [REDACTED] Further, I think that some reductions could be effected in the Transportation Division and I feel sure that the Space, Maintenance and Facilities Branch could be cut down somewhat.

4. I lunched with [REDACTED] to discuss the possibility of his joining the immediate Office of the DD/S. He said that while General Cabell had agreed reluctantly to release him on 1 June 1959, Mr. [REDACTED] would much prefer that this be 1 June 1960. I agreed to take another look at the situation and to let him know whether or not I thought we ought to press Mr. [REDACTED] for an earlier release date.
